Online Certification Enhancements

Brian Cox, VP, Market Development

TERI announces several new online school certification enhancements! These improvements are designed to further develop the functionality and user-friendliness of our online certification process. The changes are the result of feedback gathered from TERI's valued school customers. The following enhancements will be live on June 15th:

- Online change capability—Schools can submit online changes up to 3 business days prior to loan disbursement. As always, any change request is also accepted via phone.
- Certified Loan Amount—Only 2 fields are now required: "Estimated Cost of Attendance" and "Certified Loan Amount"... no more "Aid" question and no more automatic calculation!

- Student Eligibility—Clicking "No" cancels out all other fields and allows easy/fast cert submission for students not enrolled or not eligible.
- Removal of "Minimum 30-day rule" between disbursements.
- Enrollment Status—The drop down box has been eliminated and is replaced with a simple "Yes" or "No" response to: "Student is Enrolled at Least Half Time in a Degree or Certificate Program"

Pathways to College Network Releases New Report

Karen Cheng, Pathways to College Project Coordinator

TERI's long-term commitment to opening doors to higher education found further expression at the National Press Club on February 19, 2004, when the Pathways to College Network, managed by TERI, released its report "A Shared Agenda: A Leadership Challenge to Improve College Access and Success." The report distills three years of research about "what works" in promoting college-going for under-served students into six Principles for Change. These principles provide policy makers, school leaders, college administrators, outreach leaders, and community leaders with nearly 100 research-based recommendations based on the principles.

Principles for Change

- 1) Have college expectations for all students.
- 2) Provide students and families with a range of high-quality, college-preparatory tools.
- 3) Embrace social, cultural, and learning style differences.
- 4) Involve leaders at all levels.
- 5) Maintain sufficient financial and human resources.
- 6) Regularly assess program effectiveness.

The Press Club event featured remarks from Susan Sclafani, Assistant Secretary for Vocational and Adult Education, and a panel discussion with Blenda Wilson (Nellie Mae Education Foundation), Professor Alberto Cabrera (University of Wisconsin-Madison), Gerald Tirozzi (National Association of Secondary School Principals), Carol Geary Schneider (Association of American Colleges and Universities), Roger Nozaki (GE Foundation), and Ann Coles (TERI). Follow-up events took place in early March in Denver, Colorado and on Capitol Hill.
